GRA–2019–02 (Part (1)	Seeking Reconciliatory Action for Historic Impacts of the Whitehorse Hydro Electric Dam from the Northwest Territories Power Commission, Later Known as the Northern Canada Power Commission, Now Known as the Yukon Energy Corporation	Rae Mombourquette Hank Henry	Carried	Reconciliatory action is only partially within the abilities of HLRD. We would be able to contribute to the portion asking for signage, as this would be a heritage project. It is Council's authority to decide what actions to, take concerning reconciliation and compensation for the historic impacts of the Whitehorse Dam. HLRD will prepare comments on the upcoming YESAB and Water Board proposals that YEC is expected to bring forth. HLR submitted an extensive set of comments to YESAB regarding this project. As part of that submission, was a substantive community-led report identifying the impact of the dam on KDFN.
GRA–2019–03 (Part 2)	Seeking Compensation for Historical and On-Going Impacts of the Whitehorse Hydro Electric Dam from Northwest Territories Power Commission, Later Known as the Northern Canada Power Commission, now Known as Yukon Energy Corporation.	Rae Mombourquette Hank Henry	Carried	Compensation is a legal matter that falls outside the scope of HLRD's mandate and would require significant resources. It is Council's authority to decide what actions to, take concerning reconciliation and compensation for the historic impacts of the Whitehorse Dam. HLRD will prepare comments on the upcoming YESAB and Water Board proposals that YEC is expected to bring forth. KDFN is currently negotiating agreements in regards to the YEC Relicensing process.

GRA–2019–04	Representation for KDFN Citizens	Rae Mombourquette Billi-Joe Alexis	Carried	The new Council did not have the opportunity to consider this resolution. KDFN will continue to review the programs. Various Justice programs, specifically the CSO program—the interim review may be ready in the coming week(s)—are currently being reviewed. Health underwent a comprehensive review of all spiritual and mental health services, programs and gaps. The evaluation started in December of 2018 and was completed April 2019. Among many stakeholders, it provided citizens a number of opportunities to give feedback into the health department both in group settings and one on one sessions. Update: Education is creating a new Language and Culture department and has also been working towards education visioning, the new building, identifying the space needs, programming needs and gaps.
GRA–2019–05	Increase to Honoraria Rates	Judy Gingell Wynette Dawson–Eliot	Carried	The KDFN Finance Department responds that a 2.7 per cent cost of living increase in 2019 would not justify a $75 increase for honoraria over three hours.
GRA–2019–06	Custom or Traditional Adoptions	Heather Profeit Hank Henry	Carried	Custom/traditional adoptions are an issue that the Citizenship Committee and Registrar have considered in the past in regards to the application process to be a KDFN citizen or beneficiary. In the past, the Citizenship Committee explored and consulted with citizens about custom adoption in its work redrafting the Citizenship Code. Once a consensus is reached on a definition of custom/traditional adoption, ECO will assess whether amendments to the Constitution are necessary; it is possible custom adoptions may fall under section 8, Eligibility for citizenship, and not require constitutional amendments. Amendments to the Constitution are anticipated and are being considered as a long-term priority that will take a significant amount of time and resources.

GRA–2018–07	Extending the Design Process Related to the New KDFN Administration Building in the McIntyre Subdivision	Rae Mombourquette Harry Kolasch	Carried	The Council has asked the City of Whitehorse to take action with regard to slowing down traffic throughout McIntyre, mainly along McIntyre Drive. KDFN Justice is exploring the cost of solar powered speed identifiers signage. As well, the City has advised that McIntyre Drive is due to be repaved. Therefore, they are planning to get their traffic calming plan in place, with any changes to the roadway installed before repaving occurs. The City recently hired a traffic planning consultant to work with KDFN on the plan for traffic calming measures. Community Services has met with the City engineer and the consultant for the first discussion on October 3. They expect to have a draft plan for the Council to review early in the new year. There is little point in trying to develop a landscape plan for McIntyre Drive until any revisions to the street configuration/alignment are finalized. At that point planning could be undertaken, but installation would need to wait until the road work is completed and budget monies are available. Update: Council has been asking the City of Whitehorse to take action with regard to slowing down traffic throughout McIntyre, mainly along McIntyre Drive for several years. KDFN Education has not yet received a decision from the Council. 2016–03	Resource Sharing Accord	William Carlick Albert Webber	Carried	Although there is no mechanism that specifically targets other First Nation businesses or for the entire KDFN traditional territory, the Lands and Resources Department, through the Lands and Resources Act, establishes the ability to issue authorizations for the use of KDFN settlement lands. These authorizations, such as leases, resource use permits or licenses would have fees attached. Essentially allowing KDFN to charge for use of Settlement Lands. 2016–06	Educational Career Paths	Margaret McKay William Carlick	Carried	KDFN has developed a detailed proposal to Employment and Skills Development Canada, which funds the Aboriginal Skills Employment and Training Strategy (ASETS), to take down and administer ASETS starting in the 2018/19 fiscal year in order to — increase the number of participants in the program by making it more accessible and by identifying and supporting the individuals who are outside the workforce and no longer included in employment statistics — put emphasis on case management, including needs assessments and design on individual program plans based on where client is on the continuum of success — monitor individual success and, where possible, mentoring, adjustments to the individual plan and make available other necessary support Update: KDFN drew down the Indigenous Skills and Employment Training (ISET) CRF Program and has a contribution agreement for the EI portion of ISETs beginning in April 2019. The ISET Program can support unemployed and underemployed KDFN citizens with employment supports. 2015–02	Advancing KDFN Capacity	Victoria Fred Doron Fox	Carried	Section 4.1, Hiring Preference, of the KDFN Personnel Policy and Procedures Manual, currently gives preference to KDFN citizens and their immediate family members. A policy change is required to move forward with this resolution. It is highly recommended that a labour lawyer be contacted to advise KDFN on a preference policy with this level of detail. It is suggested that until such advice is obtained, we give preference to KDFN citizens and then all 'other indigenous individuals. Self-identification has proven problematic and is the only means by which we can give preference 'fairly'. Failure by individuals to self-identify will prevent their résumés from being considered further. Update: KDFN drew down the Indigenous Skills and Employment Training (ISET) CRF Program and has a contribution agreement for the EI portion of ISETs beginning in April 2019. 2015–03	Staffing Senior KDFN Positions with KDFN Citizens	Sarah Snowdon Joan Viksten	Carried	KDFN, over the last two years, has been pro-active in providing learning and developmental employment opportunities to mid- and senior level positions, including utilizing the post-secondary list for such opportunities. KDFN has appointed a number of citizens by competitive and non-competitive means to senior level positions (Levels 5 - 9) and is investing the necessary time and training dollars. We have citizens in such positions in no less than four departments and we have staff on inter-governmental temporary assignments in anticipation that they will return to KDFN with additional knowledge and expertise. With Chu Niikwan in operation, employment opportunities may soon present themselves in senior positions with partnering organizations.
		Staffing Senior KDFN Positions with KDFN Citizens, ctd.		Human capacity, individual desire, training plans and finance need to be in place for mentorship to be successful. KDFN would not be demonstrating due diligence if it were to create opportunities without the necessary support structure in place. Human Resource and House of Learning staff continue to look for ways to publicize mentorship opportunities in and outside of KDFN for its citizens and will continue to look for funding necessary to support such mentorship endeavors. Specific to post-secondary investment for senior positions, Human Resource and House of Learning, as well as other Yukon First Nations, have partnered with the Yukon Government who has established positions specifically for work experience for recent First Nation graduates (called the Grad Corp). KDFN shares its post-secondary lists, with the permission of the students, twice a year with the Grad Corp who bases a number of Grad Corp employment opportunities on the studies of First Nation individuals and then preferences or, in some cases, restricts opportunities to First Nation individuals. 2014–02	Post-Secondary Funding	Norma Shorty	Carried	The Post-Secondary Policy was revised in 2015. Research is underway on a comparison of living allowances (rates) across the Yukon First Nations. Yukon Grant funding consultations are also underway to look at YG post-secondary funding contributions. Funding, if unlimited, would need to come from other existing services within KDFN. Update: The Post-Secondary Policy was amended on April 12, 2016 and is currently under review for revision this fiscal year. On December 17, 2018 Council approved the rate increase for Post-Secondary students. KDFN is currently completing a Post-Secondary Living Allowance Rate Review.
2014–03	Housing Applications	Rae Mombourquette	Carried	Community Services is aware of the housing shortage units and long waiting times. While the long-term plan is to build more housing units, several obstacles must be addressed. A majority of our housing stock is older and in need of maintenance. With a limited budget, repairs have priority to prevent more expensive repairs later. We are conducting inspections to identify those units with the most need for repairs. Funding is currently not available to construct new homes. KDFN has approximately $1M in outstanding arrears, which has a huge impact on our budget and decision-making process. With this shortfall Community Services must be diligent in deciding how funds are spent. If the arrears were paid in, we could build four Duplexes to accommodate up to 24 people or 4 small families. This would have a ripple effect as smaller families could vacate larger homes freeing up space for larger families.

			Many tenants have entered payment plans but arrears cannot be collected overnight and would not have enough of an impact to build a new home this year.
		Housing Applications, ctd.	Over the last 30 years, the housing needs have changed. We do not have smaller units for Elders who no longer need three or four bedrooms. There are very few one- and two-bedroom units available. Community Services is looking at alternatives to accommodate as many people as possible. In an effort to house those with the greatest need, we have put a hold on all housing transfer applications, which will be reviewed once the most critical needs have been met. Community Services is aware of the shortage of affordable and safe housing and is in the process of developing a new housing policy to deal with all housing issues. It is a complex issue and will take time to implement.
